

Grid Thoma (Ph.D. in Economics and Management at Sant'Anna School, Pisa) is Assistant Professor of Economics and Management at the University of Camerino, Macerata, Italy. He is also Research Fellow at KITES-CESPRI, Bocconi University, Milan, Italy and Member of the - European Network for Intellectual Property. His research interests include innovation, finance and entrepreneurship in high tech industries, technology diffusion and agglomeration. GT is author of several works published in Annales des Economique et Statistique, European Management Review, Industrial and Corporate Change, Research Policy and others. His research activities has benefitted of grants from European Commission, European Science Foundation, Italian Government, Kauffman Foundation, National Science Foundation, OECD and others.